I remarked that the appearance of any previously unissued concert performance by Otto Klemperer is an event for me. Consequently, the Audite set of performances with the RIAS Symphony (later renamed the Berlin Radio Symphony and still later the Berlin German Symphony) automatically earns a place on my current list. Not all the items in this release are new, but those that are not are in much better sound than in any previous incarnations, having been mastered directly from archival broadcast tapes. The performances, dating from 1950 through 1958, are for the most part vintage Klemperer.
